

CARRANZA MESSAGE SAYS U. S. ARMY IS OF MORE USE ON LINE

NEW NOTE REPEATS REQUEST FOR WITHDRAWAL OF AMERICAN EXPEDITION.

NOT CONSIDERED ULTIMATUM

Washington. Officials Consider Note Is Merely Continuation of Negotiations.

(Associated Press)

Washington, May 31.—A new note from Carranza, asking for definite explanation of the continued presence of American troops in Mexico, and renewing a request for their withdrawal, was today presented to the state department by the Mexican ambassador.

The note, which is in Spanish, refers to the repeated declarations of the United States that it wants no war with Mexico and argues that the withdrawal of the troops would be the best proof of that attitude on the part of the American government.

Have Opposite Effect.

The continued presence of the punitive expedition, the note says, is having an opposite effect on the people. The communication says Carranza troops are now able to control outlaws in northern Mexico and that no co-operation by American troops can be best carried on by having the forces on the American side of the border. It declares that had the American troops now in Mexico been engaged in patrolling the American side the Glenn Springs and Boquillas raids could have been prevented.

State department officials regard the note not as an ultimatum but as a continuance of negotiations.

ROADS ARE NOW TOO GOOD

As a Result State Officers Are on Duty
Against Speeders.

Danville, Ill., May 31.—Because the concreted brick roads of Vermilion county are excellent speedways, the commissioners have found it necessary to appoint special police to patrol the roadways. Half a dozen state officers already are on duty and as many more will be appointed.

During the first three days of the traffic squad's work six persons were arrested for speeding.

WILSON TO REVIEW PARADE

President Will Not Be Outdone in Way of Preparedness.

Washington, May 31.—President Wilson, it is announced, will review the preparedness parade which is to be held at Washington on June 14.

More than this, with the approval of the president, Secretary Tumulty and the rest of the White House staff will march. Secretary McAdoo will give permission to treasury employees to participate and other heads of departments will take like action. The purpose of the administration is to show the country that the president is in hearty sympathy with the policy of preparedness.

IOWA COURT IS SOLOMONIC

Can't Divorce Husband Because He Confesses Crime, Tribunal Rules.

Des Moines, Ia., May 31.—The Iowa supreme court, in session here, handed down several Solomonie decisions. In one ruling the court held that confession of a crime on the part of a husband does not constitute grounds for divorce proceedings. "It will become a wife," said the court, "to prefer criminal charges against her husband. She took him for better or for worse, and she should try to redeem him."

In the same decision the court defined an habitual drunkard as "one who becomes even moderately intoxicated whenever the opportunity is presented."

CHESTER, BANDIT, MAY BE UNDER ARREST NOW

LOCAL AUTHORITIES BELIEVE ROCHELLE GUN MAN IS IN PEORIA.

STOLE A HORSE AND BUGGY

Local authorities are of the belief that Ralph C. Chester, the bandit who shot two detectives at Rochelle some time ago, may be under arrest in Peoria, their knowledge being gained from the following dispatch from Peoria:

Harry C. Chester and his girl wife, scarcely 18 years old, are locked up in Peoria today after having been brought back from Joliet Sunday night, where they were arrested for stealing a horse and buggy belonging to Dennis Sheridan, Peoria liveryman. Chester is now behind the bars in the county jail and his wife, with a six-months old baby, is at the Peoria county detention home.

Chester, according to statements of Sheridan, secured the rig from the Sheridan barn last week. After a few hours Sheridan became suspicious that Chester might have disappeared with the rig and notified Sheriff Butts who got on the trail. Chester was traced out of Peoria and trace of him was later found through Tiskilwa. The sheriff of Joliet was notified and picked up Chester soon after he arrived in that city. The horse and buggy were also found.

Little is known of Chester in Peoria, although he has made this city his home several times. He is 27 years old.

CHICAGO THUGS BEAT AND ROB DIXON MAN

WILSON ANKENY SUBJECTED TO MURDEROUS ATTACK IN CHICAGO.

TOOK HIS $450. DIAMOND RING

Local Restaurant Man, Beaten Into Insensibility On LaSalle Street,
In North Chicago.

Wilson Ankeny, owner of the Saratoga restaurant, is back in Dixon minus his $450 diamond ring, about $25 in money and his good looks. The latter loss is only temporary, however, and it is hoped the ring and money will also return. He was held up by a couple of Chicago "strong-arm" men on LaSalle street, near Chicago avenue, on the North Side Monday night, subjected to a terrible "beating up" and robbed of his ring and part of his money. His nose is broken, his upper lip cut clear through, his right eye terribly bruised, swollen and discolored, and his left eye somewhat blackened, beside several minor cuts and bruises.

Mr. Ankeny gave the story of the hold-up to a Telegraph reporter in this manner: That he was walking along on North LaSalle street near Chicago avenue at about 11 o'clock Monday night and intended to make a couple of calls upon business men who were working late. Two men walked up behind him, he believes, for the first thing he knew one big husky had his left arm around Ankeny's neck and with the other fist was beating Ankeny in the face with terrific blows. Ankeny had time to cry out once, then all was darkness, although before he lost consciousness he heard the companion of the man who was administering the heroic quieting treatment say, "Get his ring, get the ring." It is evident that the thug wore brass knuckles, or used some instrument in the murderous attack, for the cuts on Mr. Ankeny's face are very deep.

Worked In Hurry.

The hold-up men went through Mr. Ankeny's clothes very rapidly, in all probability, for they failed to get his watch, which was appended to a chain which showed across the front of his vest, and they left several dollars in bills and some silver in his trousers pocket. They only took his ring, which was an exceedingly valuable diamond, and the roll of bills, amounting to $25, from the watch-pocket in his trousers.

Mr. Ankeny is not positive about the time he lay unconscious on the sidewalk, but he believes it to be about half an hour. As soon as he could he made his way to the East Chicago Avenue police station and reported the attack and hold-up and the physician at the station gave first aid to his wounds. He was in such a battered and bruised condition that he was practically helpless.

(Associated Press)
New York, May 31.—Carrying a leather bag filled with stones, Saerbes Powdrbes, a wood carver of Yonkers, stopped in front of the home of William K. Vanderbilt, Fifth Ave., and hurled three stones through the windows. When arrested he is said to have told the police he thought it was the home of John D. Rockefeller, and that he and a confederate had planned to shoot Mr. Rockefeller as he stepped to the door after the stones were thrown. His confederate failed to appear and he went alone. He will probably be examined as to his sanity.

Y. M. C. A. OF BOTH TOWNS
TO JOIN IN BOYS' CAMP NEAR GRAND DETOUR.

The Sterling and Dixon Young Men's Christian Association are planning to hold a joint boy's camp this summer. Past experience has proved that by combining boys from both Associations into one camp reduces the expense, and makes possible more varied and more interesting games and sports. It also furnishes a larger opportunity for forming some of the closest and finest of life's friendships. The date of this Boy's Camp is to be June 9th to 19th. A total of 10 days. The cost, including all expense, will be approximately $6.00 for each boy. The location of the camp has not been definitely fixed but it will be somewhere in the vicinity of Grand Detour. Several sites are under consideration all of which are very desirable. The camp will be limited to boys from 12 to 15 years of age. This is a good chance for ten days of genuine wholesome recreation, good swimming, good eats and something doing all the time. Further information, as to outfit required, etc., to be had at the Y.

The days from June first to ninth except June 4th have been set aside by the Y for a Summer Swimming School. This privilege is open to all men and boys whether or not they are members of the Y. There is absolutely no charge for instruction. Every one desiring to learn to swim should enroll at the Y. Send in your name or phone to Boys enrolling will be divided into groups according to age, and the various groups will be given regular hours for practice. ROOSEVELT ASSAILS ANTI-AMERICANISM

IN ST. LOUIS SPEECH TODAY HE ATTACKS ALL KINDS OF HYPHENATION.

"AMERICA FOR AMERICANS"

Says Effort To Keep Citizenship Divided Brings Old World Rivalries.

(Associated Press)

St. Louis, May 31.—Tremendous cheering crowds greeted Roosevelt upon his arrival at the station here today. The crowd was so great that the Colonel went through the gate in a football rush and outside the train shed he stumbled into a refuse can as the crowd pressed against him. Police ran to keep up with him. He entered his automobile hurriedly and went up a side street to his hotel. He will make five speeches this afternoon, leaving at 5 o'clock for New York.

Moral treason to the United States was charged by Roosevelt in one address delivered here today, against German-Americans who seek to make their governmental representatives act in the interests of Germany rather than this country. He characterized the German-American Alliance as "an un-American alliance," but added that he believed its members "not only do not represent but scandalously misrepresent" the great majority of real Americans of German origin.

Urging the motto, "America for Americans" for all Americans whether they were born abroad or here, the former president declared that "the salvation of our people lies in having a nationalized and unified America, ready for the tremendous tasks of both war and peace."

"I appeal to all our citizens," the Colonel said, "no matter from what land their forefathers came, to keep this ever in mind, and to shun with scorn and contempt the sinister intrigues and mischief-makers who would seek to divide them along lines of creed, of birthplace or of national origin."

Col. Roosevelt said he came to St. Louis to speak on Americanism, to speak of and condemn the use of the hyphen "whenever it represents an effort to form political parties along racial lines or to bring pressure to bear on parties and politicians, not for American purposes, but in the interest of some group of voters of a certain national origin, or of the country from which they or their fathers came."

Kansas City, May 31.—An open pocket knife was thrown at Colonel Roosevelt here as his motor car turned into Twenty-third street during a Memorial day parade.

Whether by accident or design, the knife struck John McGrath, the Colonel's secretary, on the arm and fell outside the car. It was found in the street after the parade had passed. Colonel Roosevelt was standing

LONG AND BEAUTIFUL PARADE

All Join In Paying Respect to Gallant Old Veterans Who Are Left to March.

Dixon veterans of the Civil war participated in one of the most auspicious Memorial day exercises of recent years Tuesday, fair skies, plenty of music, a big parade and an excellent address by Rev. E. C. Lumsden combining to make the celebration most complete. The city was elaborately decorated for the occasion, Old Glory adding majesty and patriotism to the occasion.

The celebration started with a big parade at 1:30 o'clock in charge of L. W. Mitchell, Marshal of the Day. Following the Marshal were:

Chamber of Commerce Band,
Company G, I. N. G.,
School Children,
W. R. C. and A. U. S. W. V.,
G. A. R. in automobiles,
L. O. O. M. Band,
U. S. W. V.,
Fire Department.

The line of march was followed as outlined, music being furnished by the Chamber of Commerce band, official escort of the G. A. R., and the L. O. O. M. band, which had donated its services to the U. S. W. V.

Children at Graves.

Hundreds of school children, each carrying a flag, participated in the parade, and under the direction of committees from the W. R. C. and Auxiliary of the U. S. W. V., decorated the graves of deceased veterans at Oakwood cemetery.

Excellent Address.

The exercises at the Court House square were excellent. Following a medley of songs, dear to the heart of every American, by the Chamber of Commerce band, ritualistic service by members of Dixon Post G. A. R., a reading by pupils of the eighth grade of the Central school, and a selection by a quartet composed of Mrs. Katherine Ballou, Miss Florence Stackpole, Elmer Rice and Otto Weeks, Rev. Lumsden delivered his stirring address. He said in part:

No League Here.
"At a time like this the mind turns from institutions and leagues and officers and privates and dwells upon men."

There is no sense of institution or of any league. We forget that there were officers and privates. We remember that men left the farm, the school, the church and the bank, and as men went willingly to give their lives on the altar of their country in need time.

And my, how they came! Three hundred thousand strong. Millions came. And what an offering on the altar of Mars was made! Nearly a million brave hearts ceased their beating. They went to glory by the way of sword thrust, bursting shells, hail of bullets, bayonets or dread disease. Thousands languished their way out of the world in horrid southern prison pens—starving, naked, sick, yet brave, loyal and true to the end. More than once liberty was offered at the price of taking up arms for the confederacy. That was not the lesson northern mothers taught. We glory today in liberty, patriotism and absolute loyalty to our country and to our flag.

Today we pay tribute to heroism, daring, splendid sacrifice and monumental achievement of those citizen soldiers of a great democratic country.

You have carried your flowers, the emblem of immortality, to the graves of your fellow comrades. You have placed a flag at the resting place of each soldier who bore arms in the defense of his country, but we must be nation-wide in our thinking at this hour. There are millions today who are engrossed as we are; but in our national cemeteries, in village graveyards in the far away southland, in the yellow sands by many a winding river, in yonder woodlands where checkered shadows make delightful the summer's day, by mountain sides and in quiet glens, devoted nature

Alkali in Soap Bad For the Hair

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is just ordinary mulshed coconut oil (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get mulshed coconut oil at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.

RESTA WINNER IN MOTOR RACE

Three Are Hurt, One Is Believed to Be Dying.

SPEEDING CARS JUMP TRACK

Slow Time Made at the Indianapolis Speedway—Rooney and Aid Injured When Car Hits Top of Wall; Le-cain's M'unt Turns Turtle—D'Alene Runs Second.

Indianapolis, May 31.—Sound judgment, patience, a perfect mechanism and a remarkably fast pit crew gave Derio Resta and his Peugeot automobile the $12,000 international sweepstakes here. The same fortuitous circumstances gave to Wilbur d'Alene second in his shabby, white Duesenberg. The luck of motor racing, the misfortunes of less careful judgment and the vagaries of motor materials played hob with all the others of the twenty-one who scooted in wild abandon from under the starter's flag.

One Driver May Die.

Two accidents cut into the evenness of the day, leaving Jack Lecain, a Delage substitute driver, possibly fatally injured; Tom Rooney, who was driving brilliantly in one of the three green Premiers, with a broken leg, and Rooney's mechanic, Jim McAllister, badly bruised. Lecain's car flopped over suddenly on the north stretch. His mechanic jumped and was able to get out from under the hood so that he rolled along unhurt.

Rooney's car swung into the wall at the top of the hill at the south end of the field. McAllister was thrown over the rail into the outfield and Rooney was caught when the car rolled back.

Speculators Grow Weary.

A fair-sized crowd saw the race and cheered the drivers when the latter would save their speed stunts for display before the grand stand, but toward the end an apathy settled down over the watchers when it was seen that the speed being made was nothing phenomenal.

Some Quit Early.

One by one the drivers dropped; beginning at the fifth lap and continuing until the eighty-third. One after another dropped into the pits for tire changes, spark plugs, gas and oil.

It was only after the hundredth lap had marked the end of 250 miles that a definite conclusion might be drawn as to the winner. Resta's pace fell off then and he never tried to better it, so that his final time for the 300 miles was 3:36:10.8, a speed of only 83.26 miles an hour, which is nearly seven miles an hour less than the speed at this period of last year's 500 mile race.

Experience, the Teacher of Tire Lessons

The experience of your last week-end holiday trip has told you something about the tires you use—

—That they are, or they are not, the particular tires suited to your particular car.

Experience taught the United States Tire Company that all tires are not suited to all cars.

That is why the United States Tire Company makes five different tires—a tire to meet every need of price and use—the only complete line offered by any tire manufacturer.

One of the five is made for your car—will give you the lowest cost per mile.

"Cannon Ball" Baker's transcontinental world's record car was equipped with United States "Balanced" Tires. Baker says: "No other tires would have stood the test."

Ask the nearest United States Tire Dealer for your copy of the booklet, "Judging Tires," which tells how to find the particular tire to suit your needs.

NO matter how much you pay for soap, its makers cannot put more quality into it than the makers of Ivory Soap put into Ivory.

First of all, the choicest materials the world affords are secured for Ivory Soap, and nothing else enters into its composition. Then these materials are combined by skillful soap-makers whose sole aim is to make Ivory Soap not as quickly as possible but as perfectly as possible.

The result is a sweet-smelling, pure, white, mild, floating cake, containing no free alkali or unsaponified oil—as good soap as can be made.

AFTER SIX YEARS OF SUFFERING

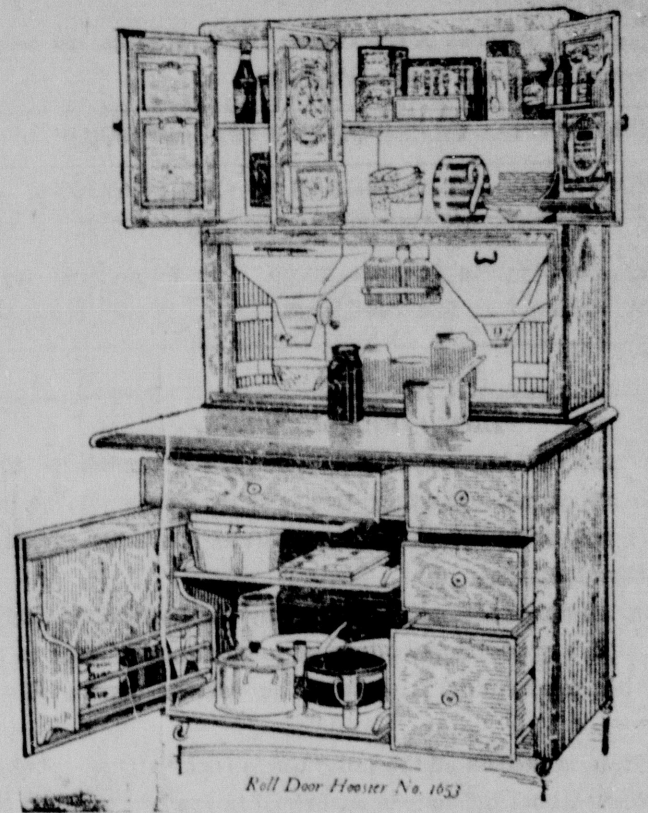

Woman Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Columbus, Ohio.—"I had almost given up. I had been sick for six years with female troubles and nervousness. I had a pain in my right side and could not eat anything without hurting my stomach. I could not drink cold water at all nor eat any kind of raw fruit, nor fresh meat nor chicken. From 178 pounds I went to 118 and would get so weak at times that I fell over. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and ten days later I could eat and it did not hurt my stomach. I have taken the medicine ever since and I feel like a new woman. I now weigh 127 pounds so you can see what it has done for me already. My husband says he knows your medicine has saved my life."—Mrs. J. S. Barlow, 1624 South 4th St., Columbus, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound contains just the virtues of roots and herbs needed to restore health and strength to the weakened organs of the body. That is why Mrs. Barlow, a chronic invalid, recovered so completely. It pays for women suffering from any female ailments to insist upon having Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DICK" OGLESBY'S SON.

John G. Oglesby of Elkhart, Logan county, is a candidate for the republican nomination for lieutenant governor at the primary to be held Sept. 13 next. He is a farmer by occupation, successfully operating one of the largest farms in central Illinois.

In making his announcement Col. Oglesby emphasizes the fact that he is not aligned with any particular clique or faction, nor a party to any so-called "slate," but numbers his friends and supporters among all elements of the party.

The candidate is the son of the late "Uncle Dick" Oglesby, beloved soldier and statesman whose memory is enshrined in the hearts of all loyal citizens of Illinois, and while still a young man, he is a veritable "chip off the old block."

Young Oglesby left Harvard university at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war to volunteer his services for his country. Returning from the brief struggle he entered politics and during the two terms he served in the legislature he fathered laws which, despite his youth, promptly gave him a state-wide reputation.

In 1908 Colonel Oglesby was elected lieutenant governor. His statesmanlike conduct while occupying the office won him praise from the leaders of all parties. In addition to his executive and parliamentary ability and his fairness as presiding officer of the senate, he brought about a material reduction in the pay roll of that body. He established an unheard of rule requiring the attendance of all pay roll attaches at every senate session and "docking" employees who absented themselves without valid reasons. In the four years he held the office he was absent from his post of duty only two days.

After serving one term as lieutenant governor he was re-nominated in a field of three candidates by a plurality of more than 201,000 over his nearest competitor.

It is upon the record of his one term, so handsomely endorsed when it was fresh in the minds of the people, that he now asks for their support.

RUSSIA AFTER THE WAR.

The New York Tribune prints an interesting interview with Prof. Paul Milikuoff, leader of the constitutional democratic party in the Russian Duma and one of the Russian delegation now in London conferring with the British authorities. Although word comes from Petrograd that Russian forces advancing southward from Trebizond and Erzerum through Kurdistan purpose to take Bagdad and lay conquest to the entire region of Mesopotamia, Prof. Milikuoff refers to Mesopotamia as one of the grand prizes that will go to Great Britain at the termination of the conflict. In fact he regards this as the most advantage to be scored for the British empire, securing profitable Asiatic connections with Egypt and establishing a bulwark against future attempts of Germany to connect Bagdad with Berlin and thereby present a menace to Great Britain in Russia. He says however that Russia expects to occupy and retain possession of Constantinople, anticipating no objection from her allies on that score. Premier Asquith intimated, it seems, that Great Britain would be content at such disposition of the Golden Horn, and so did Sir Edward Grey in a speech in parliament more than a year ago.

Of special interest to American business men is the statement of Prof. Milikuoff that Americans can do an unprecedented business with Russia as soon as the war is over, our manufacturers and merchants having unlimited opportunities in that direction. This expression is in accord with opinions that have been given by several Americans closely in touch with Russian affairs. There is every reason to believe that Russia will emerge from the war not only with gains that will be of great commercial value to her but with an added vigor that will be felt in all lines of activity.—Springfield Union.

A SHOW FOR SHERMAN.

While Roosevelt and Hughes are occupying a large share of attention and other candidates are receiving their share of discussion, Representative Wm. B. McKinley of Illinois, who managed the campaign of former President Taft in 1912, rises to say:

"As the time for the convention draws near it becomes more and more evident that the great mass of uninstructed delegates and delegates from states that have no favorite son, are turning their attention to the central west. The convention will assemble in less than three weeks, with one determination above everything else, and that is to nominate a ticket that will win in November. Reports that reach me from many sources indicate there is a strong belief in the minds of the uninstructed delegates that the best chance of winning lies in the selection of a candidate from that section where the campaign is sure to rage most fiercely. It seems to me there is a very vigorous struggle going on at this time between the New York headquarters of the Hughes movement and the men actively promoting the interests of Col. Roosevelt while his bound to react to the advantage of an available candidate in the central west.

"Better than any one else, Senator Sherman of Illinois, meets the requirement with respect to location and his availability on other grounds is right now attracting the most serious attention of political leaders. His fight against pork barrel legislation has aroused the country to his mettle as a statesman and to his militant integrity. The party leaders realize that they must have a man who can take the stump every day and night and cover every section. None is better equipped than Sherman."

LOWDEN AND THOMPSON.

Mt. Carroll Democrat: Some of the other candidates for governor seem to think that they can make capital out of the fact that Col. Lowden is supported by Mayor Thompson of Chicago, and they call him the "City Hall candidate," and other names. The fact of the matter is that not one of the candidates would object if the Mayor of Chicago, or anybody else was for him. In fact, they would be happy over the fact. But because he believes Frank O. Lowden is the best man, they try to make capital out of the matter. The real fact is that most of the thinking republicans in the state believe that the colonel is the man of the hour and Mayor Thompson is only falling in line with the rank and file. Is there a candidate in the race who is not trying to get every man he can to vote for him? Is that not what the primary is for—to vote for your preference? Has not the Mayor of Chicago as good a right to be for a man as you or I? Such tactics will not get a vote away from Col.

Daddy's Bedtime Story

A Rosebush and A Snail Have A Long Talk.

"I despise the world; it is nothing to me."

[Adapted from Hans Christian Andersen.]

AFTER the children had had supper they climbed up into daddy's lap for a bedtime story, and this is what he told them: "There was once a beautiful garden with a fence of hazel bushes and beyond it a meadow with sheep and cows in it. In the center of the garden stood a lovely rosebush in full bloom, and under it lived a snail. 'When my time comes,' he was always saying to the bush, 'I shall do a great deal more than yield roses or bear nuts or give milk like the cows.' He thought much of himself. 'May I ask when you expect to come forth?' asked the rose. 'I shall take my time,' said the snail. 'You are always in such a hurry.' 'The next year came, and there lay the snail under the rosebush again. The bush was already full of buds and soon burst into lovely pink bloom. The snail stuck his feelers out of his shell and then drew them in again. 'Everything looks just as it did last year,' he remarked. 'The rosebush is still full of flowers. It will never get beyond that.' 'Summer passed and fall came. The rosebush kept right on blossoming till frosts came. Then when it began to snow the bush bowed down toward the ground, and the snail crept back into the earth. The next spring the rosebush revived, and the snail came forth. 'You'll soon be nothing but an old stick of a rosebush,' said the snail. 'You have given the world all that is in you. If you had tried to improve yourself you might have amounted to something.' 'You alarm me!' cried the rosebush. 'I never thought of that!' 'You never think much anyway,' said the snail. 'No, but I blossomed in gladness. The dew was so clear and the sun so warm that I just breathed and grew and blossomed. It was my life.' 'You've had a very easy life, then,' snapped the snail. 'But the world is nothing to me. I have enough just in myself. See how I can withdraw into my house if I want to.' And he drew his horny head under his thick shell. 'But shouldn't we give freely what we have to give?' asked the bush. 'Then give roses—if you want,' said the snail. 'They soon wither. But I despise all the world. It is nothing to me.' Then he withdrew into his slimy house again and closed it up tight after him. 'What a pity I can't creep into shelter whenever I want to!' sighed the rose. But that spring her leaves burst into green, her buds swelled into roses, and little children came and picked them with joy. Years flew by, and the snail turned into nothing but earth. But all around the bush new roses bloomed all summer in the garden."

CURRENT COMMENT

It is noticed that one faction of the woman suffragists accuses the other faction of playing politics. So it goes. But probably the other faction makes a like charge. It is hard for one to engage in any sort of a fringe project without playing politics. And why not? What is suffrage for save to do political work with?

Kendall County Record: Lowden is the clean-cut, business, fair-minded candidate for the Illinois governorship. He is clean politically, has cut loose from any entanglements and has announced a campaign on his merits as a man, of good report, and well recommended. He has none of the minor troubles which beset the ordinary campaigner. Colonel Lowden has to make no promises of future jobs to buy supporters. He is amply able, financially, to bear the burdens of the campaign. But when you go to the bottom of the question you find that he is being backed by a force of men who are for him because of the personal feeling for the man, for the benefit of the state, and for the public generally.

The Reverend Sol Broils was preaching when he considered his best sermon, but, for some unaccountable reason, it failed to arouse sufficient interest.

He decided to try his audience on another theme. "Brethren," he shouted, "in dat Glory Land gar ain't gwine ter be no no' seuffin' for de good things to eat! Everything gwine fer de fotch to yo—sassage, sparcib, chittin's, passum! Think uv dat!"

Old Uncle Bill Franklin, who had been sound asleep, woke up at this point and yelled out fervidly: "Parson, say dem greasy wuhds agin!"

Aurora Beacon-News: The eighth grade girls in the Batavia public schools are to be congratulated upon their decision to make their graduation dresses and to use a simple pattern and inexpensive goods. There is no more convincing argument of the value of domestic science in the public schools than a class of fresh young girls gowning in simple dresses they have made themselves through instruction in that department.

Rockford Republic: The greatest economic problem before the state of Illinois today is unquestionably the revision and re-arrangement of our tax laws. Our present system of levying taxes upon general property direct has fastened the burden of taxation upon real estate.

Elgin News: We wish the dreams of some of those persons who announce that they have discovered a substitute for gasoline might come true. But somehow or other we are inclined to class them along with the discoveries of perpetual motion.

Sterling Standard: There are various alcoholic beverages which will leave that dark brown taste, but a taste that demands one of the blazing primary colors for its description is that derived from an over-indulgence in soda water.

Lowden. It will make him votes, for anybody knows that any of the other candidates would fall all over each other to have "Big Bill" Thompson with them.

COMMISSIONER OF POLICE ASKS COMMISSION AS CHIEF OF POLICE.

Commissioner VanBibber wanted the council, at its session this morning, to pass an engrossed resolution authorizing him to assume the duties of chief of police, which office will be vacant after midnight tonight, because of the dismissal of Chief Tourtellott and Sergeant Gaffney. A Distinctive Reason

What is the chief reason for the superiority of Royal Baking Powder?

There are several good reasons, but there is one which distinguishes Royal from other baking powders.

This reason, which every woman should know, is that Royal Baking Powder is made from cream of tartar, which comes from grapes. This means a healthful fruit origin. It means natural food as distinguished from mineral substitutes used in other baking powders.

There is no alum nor phosphate in Royal Baking Powder.

ADDITIONAL SOCIETY

At Lord Home
Mr. and Mrs. John S. Lord returned to Chicago last evening after spending several days with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Lord.

Ashton Memorial
Largely attended Memorial Day exercises marked the Amboy commemoration. Rev. D. C. Milner of Chicago, a friend of Dr. Dornblaser, former pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran church of this city gave the address, a very inspiring one. Dr. Milner himself is a veteran of the Civil war. The services were held at two o'clock on the lawn of the Woman's Relief Corps hall. In the morning three separate delegations carried flowers to the graves in the three cemeteries—Prairie Repose, St. Patrick's and Oak Ridge, the latter in Binghamton.

Engagement Announced
Announcement of the engagement of Miss Florence A. Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Long, 165 Princeton Avenue, Youngstown, Ohio, to Charles H. Lowery, the son of Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Lowery, of 901 Fourth street, has been received by Dixon friends. Mr. Lowery is a violinist of note and a word of his appointment as assistant concert master of the Symphony orchestra of Chautauqua, N. Y., was noted in Monday's issue. Miss Long, his fiancée, is also a musician of ability—a pianist and a performer upon the pipe organ. Mr. Lowery and his fiancée both graduated from the Dana College of Music of Youngstown, Iowa.

Inspiring Services
One of the most interesting of patriotic addresses was made Sunday evening before the members of the Grand Army Post, the Spanish War Veterans, and the associate woman's organizations by Rev. E. C. Lumsden, pastor of the First Methodist church at the Memorial services. The Christian church and the Grace Evangelistic church gave up their services in order that their members might attend, and the church was crowded.

The subject of Dr. Lumsden's address was "Patriotic Memories" and the thoughts of the old soldiers present harked back to the joys and the sorrows of the battlefields as he talked. Mrs. Edwards and Miss Oakes sang a beautiful duet and the three numbers by the choir, "Welcome, Grand Army Men!" "Our Country," and "Mustered Out," aided in making the evening's program a patriotically inspiring harmonious whole.

The morning service gave especial attention to the older people and Dr. Lumsden talked on "Old Folks Day." Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Harma sang a beautiful duet.

KNIFE THROWN AT ROOSEVELT

bowing in his motor car when the incident occurred.

E. C. Shell, a member of the American legion, was walking by the side of the car, a part of the escort. Suddenly Shell heard something strike the machine. He glanced downward and saw an open pocketknife at his feet. Shell picked up the knife and handed it to a policeman. The officer looked into the crowd, but it was so dense he made no effort to make an arrest. "I think the knife was thrown by tall man wearing a brown suit and a straw hat that I saw in the crowd when I turned around," said Shell.

Roosevelt Didn't Know of It.
Colonel Roosevelt did not know of the incident and no report had been made to the police in the afternoon.

According to Shell, the knife had a wooden handle and one blade.

A speech by Roosevelt was the principal event on Kansas City's programme for the observance of Memorial day. The former president arrived from Chicago. Plans of those in charge of the day's ceremonies called for a review by Colonel Roosevelt of 1,000 Boy Scouts, marshaled on Union station plaza.

Roosevelt was given a tremendous welcome and his progress through the streets was a continuous ovation.

In the hotel lobby scores of school girls were crowded, and as the colonel entered they sang "The Star-Spangled Banner" and "America." Roosevelt stood spellbound until they had finished.

"You delightful persons," the colonel addressed them. "I'd gladly have traveled all the way from Oyster Bay to Kansas City simply to see this sight. Nothing could be finer or prettier."

The former president dwelt affectionately on the "blue and the gray," and the fact that the nation is now united.

Ear Splitting Demonstration.
Kansas City put on a flag-waving, ear-splitting demonstration that for noise and numbers has been eclipsed only once in the city's history. That was in 1904 when Roosevelt came here in a campaign that put Missouri on the G. O. P. elephant for the first time.

Pacifists "Old Women."
And Teddy dragged the pacifists at his chariot wheels at day long. "Old women of both sexes" is what he called them. Each time he put them on display the populace staged a bedlam that sounded like the noise of 1912 all over again.

In his formal Memorial day address the colonel sandwiched in several off-hand speeches. T. R. brought out one new phase of the preparedness question. It was that national defense does not hang entirely upon the end of the war.

CONFIDENCE

IN the purchase of ever day commodities, most people are more or less expert in judging values in some one particular line.

But all are not experts in judging values in all lines.

In the purchase of clothing, shoes and kindred lines, few are able to rely on their own appreciation of value.

It is quality that has helped to make this store what it is today--quality merchandise at fair and logical prices.

This is the factor that makes it possible for our customers to make their purchases here with the assurance of quality. We are your experts and if we fail in any instance, our guarantee is your insurance.

We are great believers in deeds rather than words. We are interested above all in serving our customers satisfactorily.

In order to get the most for your clothes money you must place your confidence in some one who "knows the game." You can safely place that confidence in this store, because of its "standardized" policy as to merchandise and its "money back" policy as to service.

hides from view what had been so loyal and true a soldier who followed the flag. We remember them all today—the heroes of the revolution, the war of 1812, the first Mexican war, the great rebellion and the Spanish-American struggle.

But let us fondly hope and earnestly pray that this great scourge of war may speedily pass away and that rather than in the counsels of war we may find our statesmen in the councils of peace, lending superior wisdom and God-given understanding, so that nations now in the throes of awful agony may know again the sweetness and real glory of lasting peace.

May our flag lead in a world-wide movement that will make for the turning of parade grounds into pay grounds, the beating of swords into plowshares and the elimination of all hates and jealousies.

M. W. A. MEETING.
An important meeting of the M. W. A., at which several candidates will be adopted, will be held tomorrow evening at Miller's hall.

Dramatic Notes

PRINCESS THEATRE
Richard Buhler, the popular young American actor, and damny Rosetta Brice, the titan-haired doll of Lubin players, come to the Princess theatre today with a brand new play of war an dwarf times, bubbling over with excitement, taken from the writings of Thomas Pains, "The Rights of Man," and which the writer, Louis Reeves Harrison, has chosen to title "The Rights of Man, a Story of War's Red Blot."

Under the direction of John H. Pratt, the worldwide known military authority, now directing for the Lubin company at their Philadelphia studios, the picture has been in course of preparation for three months. At the Lubin 500 acre farm at Betzwood cannons have been booming, trenches have been dug, re-filled with "theatrically dead," buildings have been constructed and then blow to pieces, troops have been marching and counter-marching until the peaceful and beautiful summer home of the Lubin company has taken on the appearance of an armed camp. Then came the trips to Washington for the beautiful views of the capitol necessary, and the filming of aeroplane flights, which Miss Brice, the leading woman, makes with George Grey, the Wright aviator.

The GIRL and the GAME

A Story of Mountain Railroad Life

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN

AUTHOR OF "WHISPERING SMITH," "THE MOUNTAIN DIVIDE," "STRATEGY OF GREAT RAILROADS," ETC.

NOVELIZED FROM THE MOVING PICTURE PLAY OF THE SAME NAME. PRODUCED BY THE SIGNAL FILM CORPORATION. COPYRIGHT, 1915, BY FRANK H. SPEARMAN.

SYNOPSIS.

Little Helen Holmes, daughter of General Holmes, railroad man, is rescued from imminent danger on a scenic railroad by George Storm, a newsboy. Grown to young womanhood, Helen saves Storm, now a fireman, her father, and his friends Ames Rhinelander, financier, and Robert Seagrue, promoter, from a threatened collision. Safebreakers employed by Seagrue steal General Holmes' survey plans of the cut-off line for the Tidewater, fatally wounding the general and escape. Her father's estate badly involved by his death, Helen goes to work on the Tidewater. Helen recovers the survey plans from Seagrue, and though they are taken from her, finds an accidentally made proof of the survey blueprint. Storm is employed by Rhinelander. Spike, befriended by Helen, in his turn saves her and the right-of-way contracts when Seagrue kidnaps her. Helen and Storm win for Rhinelander a race against Seagrue for right of way.

NINTH INSTALLMENT

A CLOSE CALL

The three watched him shuffle away. Rhinelander shook his head. "There's a mystery somewhere in it. I can't make it out. Some day we'll know." "Well, in any case, I certainly don't want these clothes," declared Helen, looking at the bundle Spike had left in her hands. "They're no use in the world to me." A laborer was passing. "Here, you—" she said to the man. "Take this suit. If it fits you," she added, before the man could recover from his surprise, "it's yours."

At Seagrue's camp, Bill and the paymaster were handing checks out to the men. The latter stood about the car in discontented groups and discussed their situation as being thrown so suddenly out of work. The paymaster handed Bill a check. It was for Spike. Bill yelled his name. A man hard by pointed to Rhinelander's camp. "There's Spike," said the man, "over there at Rhinelander's."

Plunged Over the Bridge to the Bottom of the Arroyo.

Bill's sharp eyes followed the gesture. Spike at that moment was just leaving Rhinelander, Helen and Storm. Bill, a knave of more than ordinary discernment and one who hated Spike for his share in the fight at Las Vegas, saw in the incident his chance to get even. He put the check aside and a moment later when Spike appeared at the pay car, Bill was ready. Descending the car steps, Bill called to Spike as the latter came forward. Bill advanced to meet him. "What do you mean, Spike," demanded Bill in loud and aggressive tones, pitched so that everybody might hear, "by running over to Rhinelander's camp all the time? What are you up to now, Spike?"

Spike was in the worst possible both. It was then that George Storm's preparedness was vindicated. He fought his way into the ring, followed by a dozen huskies, who beat back Seagrue's men till Storm was enabled to pull Spike away—his men holding the line back of him.

But this diversion was good only for a moment, and Storm—not unused to riots and fighting—knew better than his companions the necessity of further instant dispositions.

Helen had kept close to her friends. "We've got to get him out of here quick," exclaimed Storm to her. "They'll tear him limb from limb if they get him again. Helen," he cried, "Back the outfit cars down the cut-off for us, will you, as quick as the Lord will let you? We'll hustle him inside one."

Helen ran. Rhinelander and Storm, picking up Spike, now almost unconscious, dragged him, fast as they could, from the scene, their men covering their retreat and giving ground only as they were forced to by sheer weight of numbers. Fighting stubbornly step by step in this way, Storm and Rhinelander dragging their burden in front of the protesting line—which threatened every moment to give way under the fierce assaults—got Spike to the cut-off track. Helen had reached the engine cab and was ready to pull out the cars. Together the two men threw Spike bodily into the open door of the last car. Climbing aboard after Rhinelander, Storm signaled to Helen in the cab. She opened the throttle, and just as Seagrue's angry men reached the car, Storm slammed the door shut and Helen moved the string steadily down the track.

The incident would have been closed, with the hind outfit car making rapidly towards safety, had not the wholly unexpected happened to upset Storm's plan. That very day Rhinelander's limen had set in half a dozen telegraph poles and the anchor wire of one of these placed near the track, caught, as the second last car sped past, on the step. The pole swayed violently. For a moment Rhinelander's men, watching, hoped it might clear. But crashing suddenly forward, it fell between the last two cars, struck the coupling heavily and sprung the knuckle.

Helen, watching from the cab, saw what happened. She hastily applied the air and feeling they were now far enough away to be safe from the angry men, did not worry about the accident until she perceived as they brought the train to a stop that the outfit car, last in the string, had become detached from the train and was running away.

Inside this Rhinelander and Storm were working on Spike. He opened his eyes after a time and they told him he was safe, not suspecting themselves that their car was now running wild and down a long grade, to the main line. Indeed, they felt so relieved at Spike's return to consciousness that several moments passed before signs of the accident recorded themselves to Storm's experienced ear. The car was running too far and too fast and springing to the door he pulled it open to see what Helen was doing in the cab. A glance told him the story. "We're running away," he cried to Rhinelander, who joined him. Storm sprang for the side ladder.

Helen was alive to the new danger to her friends. But how to help them taxed, for an instant, her ingenuity. To chase them with the engine, as they were headed for the main line, might end in a more serious disaster than now seemed imminent. The main line passenger train was almost due at Baird and the thought of this fact was first in Helen's mind. Near where she stood was Seagrue's motor car, the one her abductors had used only a few days before. She ran to this and springing into the seat, turned over the engine, accelerated as fast as she dare, and was off in pursuit of the runaway.

She was sure she must pass Arden station before she possibly could catch the wild car and pulling the cushion from the seat beside her, scribbled hastily across it with a piece of chalk:

Runaway car from cut-off on main line. Stop passenger at Baird.

With this in her hands as she tore past Arden station, she rose to her feet, balanced herself with an effort and flung the cushion with all the force she could summon through the operator's window.

On the deck of the runaway car Storm had seized the brake. With a violent twist he brought the chain up taut and mindful of the energy needed to check the disastrous momentum they were attaining, threw his whole strength against the wheel.

He might have saved his companions and himself even then, had not the chain, weakened by rust, snapped under the tremendous strain put on it. The deck became impossible and to avoid being shot off it, Storm climbed down the swaying ladder again into the car. Alone, Storm would not have given his peril a thought. He could drop off a car step or from a cab gangway with either moving twice as fast, with entire safety to himself. But Spike, though conscious, was desperately groggy; in fact, helpless. He had proved his reckless skill more than once and unhurt could have followed Storm in any leap the railroad man dare venture. He lay now as little able to help himself as a baby. Casting all this up in his mind, the young railroader decided there was but one man's thing for him to do and that was to stay with his companions whether all lost their lives or not.

At Arden station the astonished operator had just time to dodge Helen's flying motor car cushion as it smashed through the window. It landed on the floor. The chalk scrawl on the top caught his eye.

In the dispatchers' office the chief was sitting at his desk and a dispatcher was on his trick at the instrument. He answered Arden instantly, took the startling message, walked hurriedly over to the chief and handed it to him:

H. C. W. Runaway car from cut-off on main line. Stop passenger at Baird—L.

The dispatcher sprang to his train sheets and back with them to the chief who dictated the only possible answer:

It was too late to avoid a collision. They could only await the issue.

With Arden station left far behind, Helen, making the utmost possible speed in Seagrue's machine, scanned the track ahead for a glimpse of the wild car. Resolved at any cost to overtake it, she was running the machine on the right of way and on the track itself in her determined effort. When she caught sight of the runaway, no one was to be seen upon it, but she knew Rhinelander and Storm were inside and as she began to overhaul the chase, she sounded her horn insistently. The two men, leaving Spike, who in the face of the common danger had pulled himself partly together, looked out of the side door. To their amazement they saw at their heels Helen bumping violently along in Seagrue's machine. She signaled them excitedly. She tried to shout to them but could not make a word heard above the deafening noises. Rhinelander and Storm did make out, however, that she wanted them to go to the top of the car and the two men climbed the side ladder again.

Helen, still close behind, scribbled a note, folded it, hurriedly, took off a shoe, stuck the note inside and with careful aim, threw it up on top of the car. The men secured the shoe and read the note:

Passenger due—Must ditch car—Jump.

Rhinelander and Storm looked at each other and looked down the line. The smoke of the passenger train rose on the horizon. There was nothing to do but what Helen directed. They thought of Spike below, but Helen was calling to them and without further delay the two men jumped one after the other down into the machine. They told Helen of Spike's plight. She nodded as if the difficulty were no more than a detail, snatched the machine from between the rails, drove around the outfit car, slowed alongside it and all three shouted. Spike, hearing his name, listened and sat up. He saw the machine outside the door and crawled forward but he was unequal to a leap. Rhinelander and Storm urged him to make every effort. He got to his feet and did the best he could toward a jump. The men together half caught and half pulled him into the machine. With the three aboard, Helen sped on ahead of the runaway.

Storm had decided what to do. "I'll drop off the hind end, Helen," he exclaimed, "and derail the car."

She caught his idea. "Quick!" she cried. "No time to lose."

Storm rolled over the back of the machine and dropped to the ground. A bridge spanned an arroyo just ahead. Running forward, Storm caught up such loose rocks as he could reach and placed them along the track. Helen, choosing a negotiable point, turned her machine courageously off the right of way and steered it safely down the embankment. The outfit car struck the rocks Storm had thrown on the track. It reeled, plunged wildly into the air and shot headlong over the bridge into the bottom of the arroyo.

In the distance the oncoming passenger train was whistling for a crossing close ahead. Storm running back to the track, cleared it hurriedly of the obstructions. The engineer of the train, scenting trouble, tried to check his train, but it was too late and Storm, to save himself, dropped down between the ties and hung there till the heavy train hurtled past. No engine driver was ever more relieved than the man in the passenger cab, when he saw himself safely across. He stopped his train. From the foot of the bridge, Helen, Spike and Rhinelander were making their way to the top and were with Storm when the crew and passengers came back. The engineman angrily told the conductor the trouble. But after Storm's brief story, he was as grateful as he had been indignant.

The conductor, knowing the anxiety among the dispatchers, urged his passengers on board and the train hastened on. The moment it pulled into Arden the conductor gave the details to the operator and the latter wired headquarters.

In the dispatchers' office it was the chief himself who jumped to the instrument when he heard the Arden call. It was the chief who took the message telling how Helen and Storm had saved the train. But the chief, as he wiped his face with his handkerchief, reflected that it was only another incident in the day's work on the rail, happily, instead of tragically, closed.

At the bridge Spike was trying to express his gratefulness to the three who had rescued him. They left the scene together in the commandeered machine; and with perhaps a little better understanding of one another than any of them had yet reached.

UNIVERSITY SHORT OF MONEY

Closing of Missouri Institution Hinted as Result of Tangle.

Jefferson City, Mo., May 31.—Considerable interest is being manifested in the tangle regarding the payment of salaries at the University of Missouri and possibility of closing the university has been hinted at.

Governor Major, because the last legislature overappropriated the estimated revenues of the state by about $5,000,000 for a period of two years, vetoed about half of the excess appropriations and later gave instructions to all state institutions to hold down expenses to a minimum in order that revenues available might not be exceeded. He made no statement as to what action he would take on the university's demands.

SPEAR HEAD PRAISED BY
NOAH BEALWell Known Dixon Citizen
Endorses Famous Tobacco

Nothing relieves the "tobacco hunger" like a chew of Spear Head. No other tobacco is so wonderfully cheering, comforting and satisfying. And no other receives such hearty, enthusiastic endorsements as this from Noah Beal, of 620 College Ave., Dixon, Ill., who says:

"SPEAR HEAD is the best tobacco I have ever used. I am seventy-seven years of age and have been chewing SPEAR HEAD for thirty-four years. It has a rich, lasting, fruity flavor that I have never found in any other tobacco. I endorse SPEAR HEAD tobacco in every respect."

In Spear Head you get all the natural juices of choice red Burley leaf, hand-stemmed, carefully cleaned and pressed into plugs in a clean, sanitary, spic-and-span factory.

It is pure, high-grade product, for a third of a century the favorite of the best judges of tobacco.

If you want to get the same enjoyment out of your tobacco that Mr. Beal describes, just get a 5c or 10c cut of Spear Head from your dealer and try it.

TOO DANGEROUS

DIXON PEOPLE WILL DO WELL TO REED THE WARNING

To have good health, the digestion, heart, lungs and kidneys must work perfectly. When there is anything wrong with the digestion, heart or lungs, a very noticeable pain gives prompt warning. Kidney trouble is more easily overlooked, however, and too often gains a long start. But kidney trouble does give early signs, and backache, headache, dizzy spells, rheumatic pains, too frequent, scanty or painful urination should not be neglected. When these warnings appear, use Doan's Kidney Pills, the reliable, success, strongly recommended kidney remedy. Assist the medicine by taking things easier, reducing the diet and the use of liquors. A severe attack of kidney disease may be avoided. Doan's Kidney Pills have won the grateful praise of Dixon people. Read this Dixon resident's endorsement.

Mrs. J. L. Pine, 1006 Peoria Ave., Dixon, says: "I have suffered for years from kidney trouble. My back ached and pained so severely that I had to stay in bed. I had headaches and dizzy spells and specks appeared before my eyes. My wrists and ankles also swelled. I procured Doan's Kidney Pills at Leake Bros. Co.'s Drug store and they helped me. They have never failed to give satisfactory results."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Pine had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

BEGIN HOT WATER
DRINKING IF YOU
DON'T FEEL RIGHT

Says glass of hot water with phosphate before breakfast washes out poisons.

If you wake up with a bad taste, bad breath and tongue is coated; if your head is dull or aching; if what you eat sours and forms gas and acid in stomach, or you are bilious, constipated, nervous, sallow and can't get feeling just right, begin inside bathing. Drink before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it. This will flush the poisons and toxins from stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels and cleanse, sweeten and purify the entire alimentary tract. Do your inside bathing immediately upon arising in the morning to wash out of the system all the previous day's poisonous waste, gases and sour bile before putting more food into the stomach.

To feel like young folks feel; like you felt before your blood, nerves and muscles became loaded with body impurities, get from your pharmacist a quarter pound of limestone phosphate which is inexpensive and almost tasteless, except for a sourish twinge which is not unpleasant.

Just as soap and hot water act on the skin, cleansing, sweetening and freshening, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels. Men and women who are usually constipated, bilious, headachy or have any stomach disorder should begin this inside bathing before breakfast. They are assured they will become real cranks on the subject shortly.

U. S. WILL REPEL AGGRESSION

Foreign Born Told That Those Who Do Not Think of This Country First
"Must Be Cast Out of Our Tolerance"—Preparedness Up to Business Men.

Washington, May 31.—President Wilson, speaking at the Memorial day services in Arlington Cemetery, "summoned solemnly" all men in the United States to set their purposes in accord with the spirit of America, and gave warning that men from other lands who do not think of America first "must be cast out of our tolerance."

The president said that America will not submit to aggression, either from within or without.

"We are not only ready to co-operate, but we are ready to fight against aggression," declared the president.
"We are ready to fight for our rights when our rights are coincident with the rights of mankind."

America, said the president, does not want more territory, but she does want all nations to realize and respect what she stands for. One principle of America, he added, is that small and weak states have as many rights as larger states.

Upheld Human Rights.
The president declared that the United States is ready to become a partner in an alliance with nations to uphold human rights and replied to published criticisms of such a policy.
He declared that like George Washington, he would never consent to an entangling alliance, but that he would consent to a disentangling alliance, one which will free nations. "There,"
he added, "is liberty."

The president referred to the army reorganization bill recently passed by congress and declared that he had placed before the businessmen of the country the question of whether they will allow their employees to volunteer in the service of the government. It is time for young men of suitable age to get ready to volunteer, he said.

Question for Business Men.
"Are business men ready to give young men in their employ freedom to volunteer?" he asked. "All men say we should prepare. Are business men ready to help? I have no doubt as to how these questions will be answered."

Discussing universal military service,
the president said that America
does not want anything but the compulsion of the spirit of America. He closed with a reference to the dark-nesses in which Europe is now "foundering."

At present, the president declared, America must avoid a spirit of division and reach common ends by common counsel. He was enthusiastically applauded by a large gathering of war veterans.

Memphis, Tenn., May 31.—Three ering 100 miles about Memphis.

Great damage resulted in Memphis.
Many houses were damaged by fallen trees and houses were unroofed.

The big towboat J. S. Finley, which had tied up opposite Memphis for the night, was torn from her moorings by the wind and blown across the river and left on a sand bar. Her tow of sixteen boats loaded with coal sank.
Reports from Marion, Little Rock,
Earl and other cities in Arkansas, Mississippi and Alabama, report serious damage to crops, houses and stock.

RABBIT IS SOLACE FOR CAT

Tabby Deprived of One of Its Own Mothers Small Bunny.

Godfrey, Ill., May 31.—Peter Wittman has a cat that is mothering two kittens and a small rabbit at his home. A few days ago Wittman found three small kittens belonging to the mother cat. As he only wanted to keep two of the kittens he killed one of them. The next day he was surprised to find that the cat had gone out and carried in a small rabbit, which it is mothering instead of the kitten that was killed.
